Kennedy Tank & Manufacturing Co.

833 E. Sumner Ave. • 317-787-1311 • www.kennedytank.com

Kennedy Tank & Manufacturing Co. was founded in 1898 by Patrick W. Kennedy, an expert boilermaker who repaired boilers and fabricated steel products. In about 1915 his son, William, joined the company and guided the manufacturing side of the business toward gasoline tanks for filling stations. He opened a plant in Owensboro, Ky.

His son, William Jr., joined the family-owned firm in the mid-1940s and steered the company toward designing and building complex storage tanks and pressure vessels. The 1960s brought the addition of expanded services with the erection of large field tanks at work sites. The 1960s and '70s saw an expansion of the repair business to include high-powered utility boilers. This focus continues today as Kennedy Tank provides 24/7 full-service boiler and mechanical maintenance for Midwestern utility and power plants. The 1970s also brought more fabrication diversity as tanks were produced from various alloys.

Patrick W. Kennedy joined the business in 1978 and in 1993 became the fourth-generation family member to lead the company, a role he continues to fill. The mid-1980s brought the addition of designing and fabricating heat exchangers for industrial applications. Kennedy Tank has expanded its capacities over the past 20 years, and steel fabrications of more than 200 feet in length and weighing as much as 400,000 pounds have been built at this facility.

One of Kennedy Tank's unique assets is its diversity of products and services. From standard tanks to specially fabricated storage and process tanks to pressure vessels and huge columns that may stand 200-plus feet tall and weigh more than 200,000 pounds, Kennedy Tank has the answers to "big" problems.

Chad's Barber Shop sprouted out of a small strip mall on Madison Avenue in 2004. Chad M. Potts started his barbering career in high school, giving haircuts to members of the football team and students at Triton Central.

As his shop grew so did his purpose. Now Chad confesses that his goal is to give other men with families and obligations a way to pay their mortgages and bills.

The shop, which employs 22 barbers, was renovated and expanded to nine chairs in 2011, 11 chairs in 2013, 12 chairs in 2014 and 18 chairs in 2016.
