'Thank you for being my friend'

Friends of the late William (Bill) Joseph Ciriello, Sr., 94, of Beech Grove knew right away when you were his friend.

With appreciation, he would tell you: "Thank you for being my friend."

Ciriello passed away Thursday, Sept. 14, one day after this year's Beech Grove Promoters Club Fall Festival began on Main Street and significantly two days before the annual festival parade, also on Main Street. Ciriello and his famed black 1959 Cadillac El Dorado convertible were an annual staple of the parade for years.

Saturday, Ciriello was honored during the parade. Club member John Gillespie drove his Camaro convertible with a black wreath near the front of the parade with a Ciriello Plumbing truck following behind.

Ciriello founded the company in July 1952, a few years after settling in Beech Grove.

Then at the reviewing area in front of the Beech Grove branch library, Taps was played in honor of his military career in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Fittingly, Ciriello himself played Taps many times on a trumpet that was among his WWII artifacts at memorials. During WWII, he played Reveille each morning while stationed on the USS Dayton light cruiser.

"I'm a proud veteran," Ciriello would say.

In his later years, he continued mingling with friends and other WWII veterans often on Monday evenings at Miki's Pub where the Southsider's own singer/entertainer Steve Jeffris would honor all veterans during his performances. And he enjoyed many breakfasts with Beech Grove Mayor Dennis Buckley.

An early civic advocate, he joined the Beech Grove Exchange Club and later founded the Beech Grove Promoters Club in 1953 so that collected funds would go directly to needy groups and organizations. The club also promotes the Fourth of July fireworks at Sarah T. Bolton Park.

Ciriello is best described as a father, grandfather, great-grandfather, World War II veteran, a self-made business owner, and community advocate.

He was born May 17, 1929 to the late Tony and Lola Ciriello in Rochester, Pa. He married Betty Jo Baker and they settled in Beech Grove. They were married for 72 years before her death. He is survived by four children, seven grandchildren, 11 great grandchildren, and eight great-great grandchildren.

His funeral service is at 11 a.m. today (Wednesday) at G.H. Herrmann Funeral Home, The Gardens at Olive Branch in Greenwood with burial in Forest Lawn Memory Gardens, Greenwood.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Beech Grove Promoters Club or Indy Honor Flight.

Southsider Shreve campaigns on history-making mayoral run

By Al Stille
Editor

Southsider Jefferson Shreve is on a history-making campaign in his run to become the next mayor of Indianapolis.

His roots are on the Southside where he and his wife Mary also live, making him the first potential mayor from the Southside since Uni-Gov was formed. He grew up as a kid just a few houses from Boyden's Bakery where he rode his bike and played in the streets. He has many uncles who live in Perry Township where he enjoys family gatherings. Brother-in-law Jack Martin was in the audience when he spoke last week with the Franklin Township Chamber of Commerce at Wheatley's in Wanamaker.

Shreve also would become the first mayor of Indianapolis with previous experience on the governing City-County Council; he knows how city government should work together for the people.

He reinforced his main campaign message and answered questions from chamber members

"Until this year, I didn't wake up every day thinking of myself as a politician."

— Jefferson Shreve

about the township and the Southside on Sept. 12.

Shreve's campaign is quite simple and hits home on the issue of public safety in his message to defeat Democrat incumbent Mayor Joe Hogsett who is running for a third four-year term. Shreve's assets are his success as an entrepreneur, a graduate of both Indiana and Purdue universities, who founded expanded Storage Express from one building into the state's largest storage facility and his varied experiences as a City-County Council member.

In front of the Franklin Township C of C, Shreve talked at ease about his candidacy as the Republican candidate, who won a three-way race in this year's primary election.

"Until this year, I didn't wake up every day thinking of myself as a politician," Shreve said with honesty. "I always thought of myself as a small business guy. It has been an extraordinary, not always easy, adjustment to go from the sovereignty of owning and growing a pretty successful business and opening up your life for dissection."

"I went into this (candidacy) because I'm convinced that I have something different and better than what we have seen in the Hogsett administration," Shreve said last week. "It's a vote (Nov. 7) this year to retire an incumbent ... he has to run on what he's done. He's vulnerable for a change, and that's the argument that I'm making."

SOUTHPORT CELEBRATES 60TH REUNION

Southport High School Class of 1963 enjoys their 60th Reunion Saturday at the PTAC (Perry Township Academic Center) building (old Gerds) in downtown Southport. Chairman Elaine Allee Zenor Falconbury and her committee provided a huge display of memorabilia with hundreds of 1963 pictures that were displayed throughout the banquet hall on the monitors. The PTAC building was the perfect backdrop.

OUR 63RD SOUTHPORT REUNION

I have a very active high school class. We got off to a slow start. We graduated from Southport High School in 1960. It quickly got to the summer of 1970 and we began thinking about a 10-year reunion. It took us a couple of years to locate classmates and put together a reunion, which made it a 12-year reunion. As I remember, some of our class cliques and hangout groups were still fairly strong and active.

After we bumbled through that first one, we got better. I believe our very next reunion was our 20th. First our celebrations were ten years apart. Then we decided that was way too long and the reunions for our class were five years apart.

Now, for the last several years, we are getting together every year. Last weekend, we celebrated our 63rd high school reunion. It was amazing. We celebrated for three days. Everyone from our class was invited to each of the gatherings. Some classmates attended all three days. Several were present at one or two of the events.

During the days of our reunion, the Southport Class of 1953 also was celebrating their reunion. That created something that I found very interesting and special. Our class of 1960 was celebrating our 63rd reunion, while the class of 1963 was celebrating their 60th reunion. Several of our classmates had brothers or sisters that were 1963 grads. My good friends Tom and Rosie Click are connected to both classes.

We have several classmates that keep our class connected. Judy Tout-Snyder has been very involved in all the reunions and locating missing classmates. John Todd, Tom Anthony and Randi Bertram-West have also been involved in both the reunions and the class newsletters.

We enjoyed Friday evening at Red Lobster. We had an outdoor afternoon and early evening picnic at The Mucky Duck and a brunch on Sunday morning at Yaiya's down near Greenwood. All three locations went great and allowed us to mingle and visit.

I really enjoy it when a former classmate shows up at one of our reunions that we haven't seen or talked with for years. I was very surprised to reconnect with several this time. I looked into our yearbook after the reunion and I started identifying class members that were present during this reunion.

There are 23 pages in the yearbook that display our personal pictures. I checked and found that only two of those pages did not have a photo of a classmate that was in attendance last weekend. Several of the pages displayed two or more classmates that I personally visited with those last three days. We had a blast. Thanks to the 1960 Southport High School reunion committee.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Shreve emphasized many points in his remarks last week pertaining to public safety, solving crimes, hiring a public safety director, getting violent offenders off the streets with improved policing prosecutions, making a human relations head as a member of his cabinet, facing financial infrastructure shortfalls, examining the various needs of townships in Marion County, and growing Indianapolis.

"The problem (public safety) is not enough police," Shreve cautioned. "We have 170 fewer officers on the force than when Mayor Hogsett took office. The City-County Council has authorized 1,843 officers; so the problem isn't money, it's leadership. This administration has done nothing to be able to retain and attract sufficient numbers of men and women who chose to serve on IMPD ... they don't have the numbers or the time to be forward engaged to get ahead of some of the crime before it becomes a violent crime ... you have to back our police and support them in the work they are trained to do. In my mind, the mayor has not supported the police."

Shreve proposes raising the hiring age of IMPD officers to 40 years from its existing 35 years to attract more experienced law enforcement professionals, provide higher pay for officers and retention bonuses for deserving officers, ensure the training and support needed, and engage in proactive policing with a fully staffed force of officers.

Shreve emphasized that IMPD's solve rate was 80 percent during Mayor Greg Ballard's second term and is only 34 percent under Mayor Hogsett. And he called for more prosecutions of offenders from the prosecutor's office. Shreve also has Ballard's support.

"What we have is a revolving door on too many fronts in Marion County," Shreve said. "It's hard for a Democrat mayor to be critical of a Democrat prosecutor; it won't be that hard for me. Our police can't do their work unless the prosecutor does his work."

'EAGER TO GROW OUR CITY'

Looking at the city's growth and development, Shreve observed, "Indianapolis is flat and not growing (while) the region and the donuts (adjacent counties) are growing. "We are not at our potential. I am eager to grow our city in a way that attracts human talent who want to make their careers and live in the county and attract investment capital; it's important that we make Indianapolis a safe place to live."

Shreve said he favors partnering with private development and investment opportunities for the city which should not be owning and building hotels or apartments because that puts a burden on taxpayers and places existing hotels and apartments at a disadvantage.

"I want to work with them (developers); I don't want to compete with them," Shreve stated.

Shreve rightfully pointed out that the needs of townships in Marion County differ, especially how they perceive residential and commercial development.

"One size doesn't fit all and not every township wants the same," Shreve said.

He pointed out that Franklin Township's tax base is primarily residential while Perry Township has a good slice of retail, particularly with the U.S 31 and Ind. 135 corridors. Decatur Township citizens would like a cap on distribution warehouses. He also expects commercial and business growth when I-465 and extended I-69 are connected on the Southside.

Meanwhile, Shreve looks forward to Election Day (Tuesday, Nov. 7).

"My first 30 days begins Nov. 8," Shreve said confidently. "You have to be lined up and ready to go on Jan. 1, then you're ready to move in when you get the keys to the 25th floor (mayor's office)."

Throughout his campaign trail, Shreve takes his Southside and Catholic roots with him as he makes an impact throughout Indianapolis and pursues a history-making Election Day.

TELEVISED DEBATES

Challenger Shreve and incumbent Mayor Hogsett will engage in two future televised debates. The first debate is to be on WISH-TV, Channel 8, Monday, Oct. 23 at 6 p.m. The second debate is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 26 on Fox59 and CBS4 at 7 p.m.

By Al Stille
Editor

Kenny St. John, 75, who passed away Sept. 13, brought modern-day Figure-8 racing into a new and exciting era at the Indianapolis Speedrome.

Mentored by the late Sonny Thompson, St. John became the king of the new high-horsepower Figure-8 with two track championships and the World Championship Figure-8 endurance race five consecutive times from 1978 through 1982, including a record 512 laps completed in 1981 that still stands.

St. John also raced and won several Outlaw Figure-8s at the Speedrome against winged late models built by Whiteland's C.J. Rayburn and Michigan's Ed Howe among others in Outlaw Figure-8s at the Speedrome. He also competed in a few American Speed Association races during his illustrious racing career.

His Figure-8 duels with the late Wayne Arnold at the Speedrome are legendary for their fervor and sportsmanship. They were racing for a 50-lap Figure-8 in their heyday one night when St. John spun Arnold for the lead with less than two laps remaining. St. John slowed, waited for Arnold to recover, and they raced for the coveted win.

No matter where he raced, St. John respected each of his competitors and always acknowledged the crowd after winning races. He was inducted into the Indianapolis Speedrome Hall of Fame following his retirement.

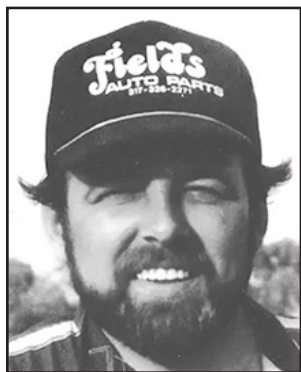

St. John also served as the chief steward of the national General Tire Figure-8 series following his retirement. During that three-year series, St. John fittingly had the drivers' interests at heart.

For several decades, he served as an ambassador of modern-day Figure-8 racing.

St. John was born July 9, 1948 to the late Marvin and Ramona (Hargraves) St. John. He attended Manual High School and married Mary "Lou" Carrico who died Aug. 4, 2017.

He was the owner of a body shop in Indianapolis and the Benton County Speedway. He is survived by daughter Shannon who is married to World Figure-8 winner Doug Greig, and two more children and two grandchildren, two brothers and a sister and two great-grandchildren. His brothers Tommy and Mike St. John also were Figure-8 competitors. He also was preceded in death by three sisters.

Funeral services were held Sept. 20 at Shirley Brothers Washington Memorial Chapel, 9606 E. Washington Street. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions are suggested to the Indiana Organ Donor Network.

Cardinals end 13-year drought against Falcons in girls' volleyball

Southport's girls' volleyball team applauds fans for their support on the road at Perry Meridian after defeating the host Falcons 3-1 in the Battle of Perry Township.

"Finishing."

That was the one word that Southport coach Chelsea Hoffman used to describe the Cardinals first triumph in 13 years against host Perry Meridian in the girls' volleyball Battle of Perry Township last week.

The vastly improved and very competitive Cardinals spoiled the senior night match Sept. 11 for the host Falcons with a gritty 3-1 win (25-16, 27-29, 25-23, 25-21).

The Cardinals did not let a close second set win by the Falcons dampen their confidence. Southport bounced back for a 25-23 win on a kill by middle hitter Victoria Rwizi. The set had been deadlocked nine times with the Falcons leading three times by three points in the nail-biter. After the final tie (22-22), the Cardinals closed by winning three of the last four points on an out of bounds serve by the Falcons, Hailee Shultz' block, and a set-winning kill.

Southport opened the fourth and final set with an 8-2 lead, but the determined Falcons weren't finished. Another timely kill by Falcons' senior Sophia Mayo (a Florida International recruit) that closed it to 16-15. Southport's final two points came from Ayslin Bowman and Ryleigh Hamilton.

Perry Meridian's student cheering section shows support for their Falcons' girls volleyball players during senior night against Southport.

"We were really prepared for Perry; the girls really wanted it," Hoffman said, who was an outstanding senior player the last time the Cardinals defeated the Falcons. "They stayed very calm and played with confidence."

Hoffman continued, "I don't know if I had one key player tonight; this definitely was a team effort. This (win) is huge for us."

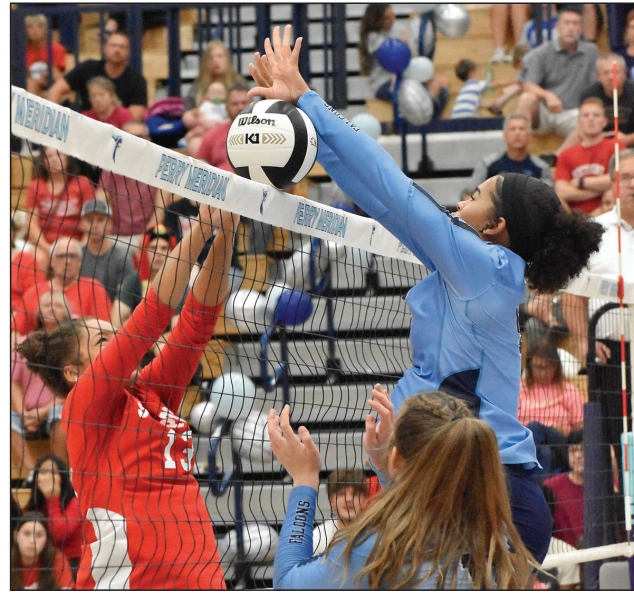

The Cardinals proved to be just a bit quicker in the back row, made better passes, and were slightly stronger at the net. Hoffman considers this Cardinals' nest as her most talented team.

Senior Macy Chafin led the Cardinals with 34 assists. Juniors Arianna Nece had 17 digs and Madison Rayburn 15 digs. Junior Ryleigh Hamilton had 13 kills and seven blocks. Classmate Paige Meyer chipped in with 10 digs, 8 kills and six aces.

"There's a different expectation with this group," Hoffman said. "They don't let drama affect them or the little things. They literally rely upon their teammates. They are disciplined and they do their jobs."

The Falcons opened with a slow start by never leading the first set. Under veteran coach Zach Ridener, they regrouped and launched a comeback, winning the second set 29-27 with the final two points coming from Mayo's ace and senior Izzy Egan's kill.

In the second set, the Falcons jumped out early by scoring the first four points. PM stayed in control for most of that set although the Falcons tied it at 21-, 25-, and 27-all. Mayo broke two deadlocks with kills.

The Falcons knotted it three times deep into the third match on a block by junior Mackenzie Hokenson and two kills by senior Alani Duncan.

Southport regained control and never trailed in the fourth set, winning by three points.

Falcons' fans and parents honored seniors Mayo, Duncan, Egan, Lucy Richardson, Bella Shepherd, and Dakota Elliott after the game with a reception.

Through Friday, the Falcons were 6-9 after regrouping to defeat host Whiteland, 3-2. PM visits Beech Grove Thursday. Southport (12-6) fell at home to Lawrence North (3-1) and at Seymour (3-2). The Cardinals visit Whiteland Wednesday (tonight).

Staff report

Decatur Central High School recently added six new members to its Athletic Hall of Fame during a football halftime ceremony.

The inductees are Franklin Callicott, Lukayus McNeil, Tommy Norris, Scott Garver, Bob Finchum and coach Dan Clark.

Franklin Callicott

Callicott is a 1999 Decatur Central graduate who was a standout in football, basketball and track.

In football, Franklin won four varsity letters and earned All-State honors as a defensive back and running back. He went on to play two years at Los Angeles Valley Community College and two years of Division I football for the University of Cincinnati Bearcats.

In basketball, Callicott was also a multi-year letter winner and spearheaded the Hawks to a sectional championship.

He was a sprinter and long jumper for track and field, earning four more letters. He holds places in Decatur's all-time top 10 in the long jump, 100 meters and 200 meters. He was a member of the school record-setting 4X100 meter relay team that also placed in the state finals. He was also on a 4X200 relay team that placed in the school's all-time top 10.

Lukayus McNeil

Another star in three sports for the Hawks who has gone on to success in college and professional football is Lukayus McNeil, who graduated in 2014.

Lukayus won the IHSAA championship in the shot put in 2013 with a throw of 61 feet, 10 inches. As a state individual champion, he automatically qualified as a Decatur Hall of Famer.

There was much more. He was a starting basketball player who earned all Mid-State Conference honors. As a senior, he averaged 14 points and 16 rebounds a game, using his 6-7 height to full advantage.

For football, he ranked among the top offensive line prospects in the country. On defense, he recorded over 30 quarterback pressures and six sacks. He earned offers from many colleges. He was a four-year starter at the University of Louisville, playing both tackle and guard. He was drafted by the Oakland Raiders and has played professionally for several teams. He is currently in NFL training camp and could not attend the ceremony.

Tommy Norris

Tommy Norris is a 2006 graduate who was a two-year letter winner in football and played on the 2005 sectional football championship team.

On the baseball diamond, Tommy was a four-year letter winner who was first team All Marion County, Indianapolis Star first team and Mooresville-Decatur Times player of the year as a senior. He led the 2005 Hawks to a sectional title. He holds distinction as the only player to hit a home run in the same season for the freshman, junior varsity and varsity Hawks.

Tommy played baseball at Parkland College and St. Joseph's College. He has a master's degree in athletic administration from Wayne State University. He is currently director of athletics at the Cole Fitness Center at Indiana University - Kokomo.

Scott Garver

Scott Garver, 2000, earned four varsity letters in football, and in 1999, quarterbacked the Hawks to their first undefeated regular season since 1970.

Scott finished his football career as DC's all-time leading passer, throwing for 5,278 yards. Other records include 2,572 passing yards in a season, 374 completions in his career and 166 completions in a season.

Garver was first team All-Marion County, first team all-conference, Indiana Football Coaches Association All State and first team Indy Star Super Team.

"This is a great honor and has produced a lifetime of memories and stories that I can truly say that I'm proud to be a Hawk and know what it takes," Scott said.

Bob Finchum

Bob, who graduated in 1986, was one of Decatur's greatest all-around athletes of that decade. He was awarded the 1986 Male Athlete of the Year. He was a three-sport standout in football, basketball and track and field.

Bob started at quarterback for three seasons on the football team, leading the Hawks to winning seasons each year. He earned All-Marion County, All-Central Suburban Conference and All-State honors.

He was a four-year letter winner in basketball and averaged double figures his sophomore, junior and senior seasons. He was named All-County, All-Conference, All-Sectional and All-State. When the 3-point shot was added at the high school level, Bob became one of Decatur's first long-range threats and he also ran the offense as point guard.

In track, Bob scored points in hurdles, sprints, long jump and high jump. He was a regional qualifier in the low hurdles, long jump, and high jump.

Finchum passed away in April 2007 at the age of 39.

Dan Clark

Coach Clark retired after 32 years of teaching, 31 of those years in Decatur Township, where he was Teacher of the Year for 2000 and a semifinalist for Indiana Teacher of the Year. He served as Math Department chairman for 22 years and was teacher leader of the Choice Academy. Over a span of 24 years, he was selected Most Influential Teacher by 56 top academic students. The class of 1999 selected him as their graduation speaker.

Dan Clark coached 11 seasons for the DCHS wrestling program and five seasons as junior varsity baseball coach. As freshman wrestling coach, he led DC to a Marion County title. In seven seasons as a varsity assistant, Hawk wrestlers won two Marion County championships, six sectional titles, a semi-state championship and finished as state runnerup in both 1990 and 1995. Decatur Central had representatives in the State Tournament during each of those seven years, including four individual state champions and numerous place finishers.

Clark's wife, Julie Clark, is also a Hall of Fame coaching inductee.

"I was proud to have coached at DCHS, and was blessed to work with tremendous young men who were also great athletes," he said. "I was fortunate to work on coaching staffs that were filled with talented, dedicated coaches and to have worked for Hall of Fame head coaches."

Beech Grove's Lee romps against Cardinals; Perry Meridian's defense helps upset Whiteland

Beech Grove and Perry Meridian made progress by defeating their visiting rivals Friday night.

The Hornets turned running back Jeremiah Lee loose against visiting Southport, while Perry Meridian defeated Mid-State foe Whiteland for the first time in six tries since joining the league.

Lee romped for 242 yards and four touchdowns on 23 carries against an improved Southport team that tried to rally in the third quarter. The Hornets captured their second win in five outings, 38-9 for a happy homecoming.

"We were prepared and ready to play," Beech Grove coach Brian Winters said. "We executed the game plan: win the line of scrimmage, keep them (offense) in front of us, and let our playmakers make plays."

Winters continued, "This (win) helps build our confidence. Our offense has been building the past few weeks. Our defense knows they don't have to dominate, just have to play so our offense can have the ball again and have chances. We are starting to figure things out and gaining a little bit of identity."

The Hornets scored on their first two drives on Lee's TD runs of 1 and 14 yards with a combined 103 yards with 10 carries. He later scored on TD runs of 57 and 42 yards.

"He is a fantastic football player and the guys in front of him are buying into doing their jobs; he's taking advantage of that," Winters praised.

The Hornets forced Southport to punt on their first four possessions until the Cardinals mounted a 10 play, 40-yard drive that resulted in a 28-yard field goal by Gerson Torres to end the first half.

With the Hornets leading 24-3, Southport mounted a nifty five play, 64-yard drive that ended with a 10-yard pass from quarterback Gavin Cummins to Uriah Stearman in the third quarter.

The Hornets capped the scoring in the fourth with a 12-yard TD pass from Jaymar Davis to Cantrell Byrd with 9:42 left.

At Perry Meridian, the opportunistic Falcons forced four Whiteland turnovers for their first win (28-13) in three league games this season.

"We emphasized defense and getting turnovers," Winters said. "We were in no hurry on offense and we were trying hard to get turnovers. We hadn't had any in our last two games. We feel we can compete with anybody now."

Tied 7-7 in the first quarter, PM's Isaiah Needham scooped up a Warriors' fumble forced by John Hunter and ran for a 51-yard TD and a lead that the host Falcons never gave up.

Whiteland closed to 14-13 in the third quarter on a 3-yard score by Dane Kunz.

Senior Zachary Huckaby lengthened the lead to 21-13 with a 16-yard TD that opened a solid fourth quarter for the Falcons. On Whiteland's next series, PM's Byron Hon intercepted a Warrior pass; Four plays later, running back Andy Warren scored from the 1-yard line to cap a short four-play, 35-yard drive to ice the triumph.

Coach Cooper praised the Falcons' play on both sides of the ball. Colt Barker also had an interception. Huckaby and Warren were defensive stalwarts.

The Falcons also benefitted from Anabelle Cloyd, a soccer player, who successfully kicked four of four PATs in her football debut.
